

Fake cop foiled but not caught

Suspect drives off as woman calls 911

Thyrie Bland

tbland@pnj.com

When someone in a white car with flashing lights tried to pull over a woman early Wednesday on Palafox Street, she refused to stop.

"You did the right thing," a dispatcher told the woman after she called 911. "You absolutely did the right thing. I wouldn't pull over for anybody right now — not until we find this guy."

ONLINE

Hear audio of Tuesday's 911 call.

pnj.com

The Escambia County Sheriff's Office believes a man who has been impersonating a law officer in this area was trying to pull over the woman. Wednesday's incident is the fourth since Jan. 20 involving the man who is targeting women.

He is described as a white male in his 20s or early 30s, about 6 feet 2 inches tall with dark, bushy hair, stocky build and a mole underneath his eye.